The top bourbon distillery tour in the world is right here in Louisville.

Rabbit Hole Distillery, 711 E. Jefferson St., was recently named North America's Leading Bourbon Distillery Tour for 2025 by the World Travel Awards, a world-wide competition considered the "Super Bowl" of the tourism industry.

Rabbit Hole's tour offers visitors a behind-the-scenes look at the distillery's production facilities and dives into the distillation process, the art of blending and the rich heritage of bourbon-making, according to a news release. The distillery takes a unique approach to bourbon and often touts its low proof, toasted and charred barrels, unique finishes, and extreme small batch products. The tours strive to combine education with entertainment in a welcoming and stylish setting.

“Our team has worked tirelessly to create an authentic and engaging experience that showcases the heart and soul of what makes Rabbit Hole so special,” Kaveh Zamanian, founder of Rabbit Hole Distillery, said in a news release. “This award is a testament to their dedication and the incredible passion of our guests who share in the journey of crafting premium, world-class bourbon.”
